PROJECT INFORMATION
Program / Project Title: COVID-19 Food Distribution Recovery Program
PROJECT TIMELINE
Start Date 09/01/2020		End Date 12/31/2020
Harvey E. Najim Family Foundation Priorities: Food, Shelter and Clothing
Program / Project Description: According to the USDA, in 2018, more than 11 million children in the United States lived in "food insecure" homes. Today, other statistics believe up four million children are food insecure in the United States. And, No Kid Hungry projects that 18 million children could face hunger by year-end.

In their May 2020 analysis, "The Impact of Coronavirus on Local Food Insecurity," Feeding America reported that the highest projected number of food insecure people, due to Covid-19, are children in Texas. In San Antonio, one in four children experience hunger on a regular basis.

Additionally, the Institute for Policy Research at Northwestern, in their Rapid Research report dated July 2020, found that during the COVID-19 crisis, food insecurity rates among households with children have been sharply elevated-- particularly so among Black and Hispanic respondents.

Since the pandemic crisis began, Daily Bread has experienced almost two times the demand for food over last year and fewer available volunteers, forcing us to reevaluate and adjust our warehouse system's operating model. Through this, Daily Bread has remained open and will continue to operate at full capacity.

Every week Daily Bread distributes food to our partners who operate food pantries in San Antonio and surrounding counties. These partners range from churches, transitional housing facilities, rehab homes, to children's outreach ministries. In 2019, we distributed over four million pounds of food to over 100 partner organizations, serving 24, 547 unduplicated children. As of July 2020, Daily Bread has surpassed the amount of food collected and distributed in 2019.

In addition to providing food to the hungry, it is at the heart of Daily Bread's goals to help our partner organizations better serve their communities by also offering innovative trainings and education in a Train the Trainer model. We partner with local agencies such as Unicity, who teach curriculum based on the book, "Raising Highly Capable Kids" and STCH, originally, South Texas Children's Home, who teach parenting classes and money management classes at the Daily Bread state-of-the-art training classroom. The goal is for our ministry partners, in addition to providing food to the food insecure, is to take the teachings into their communities and help individuals and families break the cycle of generational poverty.

As we enter this last quarter of the year and enter the traditional winter flu season, there is uncertainty about a potential fall COVID-19 outbreak and whether children will attend school in-person or on-line. To this end, our focus for Daily Bread's food program is to ensure we have the capacity to address the on-going recovery of Covid-19's impact on the food-insecure families with children this far and to look ahead and be prepared for further disasters that may come our way. Additionally, with the school holidays of Thanksgiving and Christmas approaching, we want to ensure that no child, individual or family goes without food.

Daily Bread respectfully request funds for general operating expenses to continue to serve the most vulnerable in our community, the children and their families. From January to July of this year, Daily Bread has served 22,028 children--that is 2,519 short of what we served in the entire year in 2019 and we anticipate those numbers to continue to increase as we approach the flu season with its uncertainty around Covid-19. Additionally, we hope to ensure every child that is served by our partner agencies has access to traditional Thanksgiving and Christmas meals as we near the holiday seasons. To this end, Daily Bread anticipates feeding 8,000 unduplicated children in this last quarter of 2020.

Evaluation Plan:

Daily Bread requires every agency partner to physically count the number of unduplicated and duplicated children receiving food from our distributions on our Daily Bread forms. This data is submitted to us on a monthly basis and Daily Staff then input into our data software, Visual FCS, where we track every person that receives food from every distribution.

Plans to sustain project beyond the term of this request:

Daily Bread assertively seeks funding year-round with the majority of donations, over half, received from individuals. In addition, Daily Bread seeks funding through foundations and special events. This year, we have had to cancel our in-person fundraisers due to the Covid-19 pandemic, which has placed an unexpected burden on our budget. Daily Bread also partners with two local non profit organizations that lease space in our facility, adding rent payments to our income.
