Girls University Summer Camp

PROJECT TIMELINE

Camps

Program / Project Description:

The barriers girls face are real and profound. Too often girls are shut out of opportunities to grow, achieve, and lead. Girls living in poverty and girls of color experience even greater inequities. The girls we serve have less access to quality out-of-school programming, often resulting in significant learning gaps. Youth from under-resourced communities have an average 6,000-hour learning gap from their more affluent peers by the time they are in 6th grade. In addition, 1 in 4 San Antonio households do not have internet access and 1 in 5 youth face consistent food insecurity. This was standard for our community pre-COVID.

The uncertainties created by the pandemic have significantly compounded issues, as well as reinforced barriers for many of our girls. COVID-19 and the economic crisis it has triggered will have devastating consequences and disproportionately impact low-income communities and communities of color. Many of our girls face new or increased economic hardships, including unemployment impacting their family and food insecurity. Many are isolated and lack consistent digital connectivity. With the unprecedented academic disruptions, our girls are at risk of even greater learning loss.

In response, Girls Inc. of San Antonio is planning a robust in-person and online summer program. Girls Inc. took steps at the beginning of the health crisis to ensure girls continue to have access to services through virtual programming and limited in person activities. Examples of newly implemented online services include:

- o SMART Girl Programming STEAM-focused, hands-on lessons for girls in 3rd-5th grade to keep girls curious about how things work and academically engaged;
- o Mini-Explorers hands-on virtual activities for kinder-2nd grade to help girls explore the world around them and introduce them to scientific concepts and the fine arts; and
- o Girls Inc. Clubhouse a safe virtual space for girls kinder 12th, split up by age, to keep girls connected, ensure girls needs are being met, and provide a platform for open discussion and peer support.

Components of these online programs will be woven into 2021 summer camp. The flexibility to offer hybrid summer program will support more girls and their families. The goal of all summer programs is to provide essential programs geared to increase critical thinking skills, enhance social and emotional skills, reinforce academic lessons, and reduce risky behaviors. Summer programs help address the digital divide, as well as provide a safe and supported summer learning environment.

The long-term significance of COVID 19 is yet to be discovered. We know that for many of our families, it will be a long road to recovery. During this journey, at Girls Inc. girls will find a safe space to heal, share, learn, and grow. During Girls University Summer Camp, girls have access to opportunities and intentional programming, encouragement to persevere and rise above the uncertainties they face, academic enrichment and engagement, and reassurance they can overcome existing and new barriers to reach their full potential. At Girls Inc. a trauma-sensitive approach to social and emotional learning ensures that we can create spaces where girls are free to share their experiences with each other and with trusted adult mentors. Girls Inc. of San Antonio is dedicated to inspiring all girls to be strong, smart, and bold. Affirming that message now is more important than ever.

Summer 2021 will look a little different, with in person and online activities, summer camp will run eight weeks. In person camp operates Monday through Friday from 7:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. with primary instruction hours between 9:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. Early morning drop-off and late pick up are intended to help working families accommodate a girl's "free" summer schedule and her guardian's work schedule. Girls University also ensures girls have access to snacks and meals. In a community where 1 in 4 children experience hunger, food insecurity significantly impacts girls' development. Summer should be about adventure and fun for girls, not concern over whether they will be hungry.

Girls ages 6-12 participate as "campers" at Girls University, while teen participants learn valuable leadership skills as Camp Program Aides (CPA). In 2019, 51 teenage girls served as CPAs and collectively logged over 8,000 community service hours. The framework of Girls University enables participants to have a unique, engaging experience whether they attend one week or all eight. Girls Inc. expects to serve 75 - 100 girls per week during summer 2021.

Girls University focuses on economically disadvantaged areas because summer learning works and the girls we serve have fewer opportunities for quality summer programming. Of the girls we serve, 85% are enrolled in the Federal Free or Reduced Lunch Program, 48% live in households with an annual income of less than $30,000, and 15% of those girls are from households making less than $10,000/year. Our girls overwhelmingly represent minority and under-served communities, including 71% Hispanic/Latina, 11% Multiracial, 9% African American, 9% White. With consistent disparity in the lives of girls we serve, a high-quality summer learning program ensures access to resources to make healthy decisions that will have a positive impact on their future.

Since 2004, Girls Inc. of San Antonio has worked diligently across the community to inspire girls in Bexar County to be strong, smart, and bold. The organization's comprehensive approach to whole girl development equips girls to navigate gender, economic, and social barriers to grow up healthy, educated, and independent. These outcomes are achieved through a comprehensive experience that integrates people, environment, and programming to empower girls to succeed.

Evaluation Plan:

Girls Inc. program objectives include, Strong -- focused on health and well-being, girls will gain and possess knowledge, skills, and attitudes to sustain healthy lifestyles; Smart -- focused on education, girls are academically engaged and have a future academic plan; and Bold -- independent and empowered, girls are able to lead independent, productive, and fulfilling lives. These program goals and objectives are measured by the number of girls served, program dosage, and self-reported impact.

Participant impact is measured with The Voice, Action, Comportment, and Opportunity (VACO) Checklist. VACO tracks capacities in four areas: girls' ability to speak on their own behalf; girls' ability to use their voices to act on behalf of themselves and others; girls' ability to carry themselves with respect, and dignity; and girls' ability to take advantage of new challenges and experiences. Developed by the Ms. Foundation, VACO is used worldwide to chronicle girls' development.

Plans to sustain project beyond the term of this request:

June 2021 marks the sixteenth year of Girls Inc. of San Antonio's Girls University summer program. It is also the first time it will be held on our new Girls Inc. Campus. The Najim Family Foundation has been one of the leading proponents to supporting this high-quality summer learning opportunity for girls in our community. Beyond the Foundation's support, Girls Inc. works throughout the year to secure additional funds for summer through other foundation grants, corporate partnerships, and individual gifts. Additionally, each participant is encouraged to financially contribute to the camp, so families are committed to the program. Family income and household size are evaluated on a sliding scale to determine program fees per family. While no girl is turned away due to inability to pay, program fees allows families to make a financial investment in their child and in the quality-programming provided during Girls University.
