PROJECT INFORMATION

Program / Project Title:

JFS Comprehensive Mental Health Services for Children and Youth Mission Road Clinic

PROJECT TIMELINE

Start Date	End Date
-------------------	-----------------

12/01/2020	11/30/2021
Harvey E. Najim Family Foundation Priorities: Mental Health
Program / Project Description: Jewish Family Service (JFS) of San Antonio is requesting funds to support comprehensive mental health services for children and youth at the JFS Mission Road clinic. These services address a significant disparity in the community's ability to serve low-income families dealing with mental health issues. In Bexar County, limited mental health care for children and youth is an acute problem with potentially lifelong consequences for those who are not able to access services. According to the Meadows Mental Health Policy Institute's (MMHPI) Bexar County Children and Youth Rapid Behavioral Health Assessment (February 2019) approximately 130,000 children ages 6 to 17 have mental health and substance use disorders. Approximately 105,000 children and youth have mild to moderate behavioral health needs and about 25,000 have severe needs. Approximately 10,000 children ages 12 to 17, have a substance use disorder. In addition, MMHPI estimates that 50,000 children and youth, ages 0 to 17, have experienced three or more adverse childhood experiences (ACEs), increasing their risk for a range of negative health conditions. High childhood poverty rates and the shortage of mental healthcare providers in Texas further intensify the community's need for accessible, culturally competent mental health services. The JFS mental health program seeks to deliver prevention, treatment, and support services to children ages 3-17 and their families in an accessible location with convenient hours and bilingual providers. Currently, all services are being offered via HIPAA-compliant telehealth platforms as well as in-office when safe to do so. As with other health issues, early detection and treatment of mental health issues is vital to the long-term success for the client. Because over half of all mental health problems manifest before the age of 14, it is critical to address these issues in childhood. A child who receives mental health care when symptoms are less severe and more treatable is more likely to have improved outcomes for their long term physical and mental well-being. The JFS treatment program has an overall goal of positively impacting the emotions, behaviors, psychological symptoms, and relationships of the children we serve. In counseling, each child is provided with a licensed therapist or a supervised counseling intern to assess problem areas. The therapist and family collaborate on the development of a treatment plan which consists of clear and measurable goals. These goals fall into two categories: 1. Children suffering from mental illness who attend counseling will within one year experience a reduction in symptoms of the illness by learning new behaviors; and, 2. Children dealing with behavioral or social stressors who attend counseling sessions will improve their level of daily functioning within six months by obtaining new skills to more effectively manage their issues. A variety of therapies are provided based on the child's needs, including play therapy, traditional "talk therapy," art and music therapy, family therapy, or any combination of these approaches. Children who require psychiatric evaluation and treatment are referred to a JFS psychiatrist or psychiatric nurse practitioner who assesses the child and coordinates care with the treating therapist for medication management when appropriate. Counseling sessions are either free or assigned a sliding fee based on household size and income. Najim Family Foundation funds will be used to support the salary of a licensed counselor or social worker at JFS' Mission Road location on San Antonio's south side, where 90% of clients are classified as low-income. In 2019, JFS joined a collaborative of agencies who provide mobile mental health services on school campuses to children in the South San Independent School District, expanding in the 2020 - 2021 school year to also include the students and families of Harlandale ISD. Any student needing extended treatment is referred to the JFS Mission Road location, necessitating additional therapy staff to respond to this growing need. Funds will also be used to replenish and refresh supplies needed for expressive therapy activities, including art supplies, musical instruments, sand tray accessories, and other toys for play therapy.
Evaluation Plan:

JFS therapists evaluate children based on established individual treatment plans and their progress towards meeting the goals in the treatment plan. Progress towards goal achievement is monitored at each therapy session using several different criteria, including therapist observation and self-report from the child and the family. The therapist also assesses clients using the Children's Global Assessment of Functioning (GAF) Scale, starting at the first session and repeated every three months. Treatment plan review with the child, the family, and the therapist occurs at regular intervals, allowing for the identification of successfully completed goals (either through symptom reduction/eradication or successful development of coping skills) and/or new problem areas for treatment. The ongoing evaluation of progress enables the counselor and family to assess whether these services are being effective. JFS anticipates that 80% of its clients will make positive progress towards their goals.

Plans to sustain project beyond the term of this request:

JFS has sustained uninterrupted mental health services since 1973 by cultivating and maintaining diversified funding sources. JFS revenue combines earned income (sliding scale fees, insurance reimbursements), public funding (federal Victims of Crime Act grants), private foundation grants, and individual donations and fundraising events. JFS also provides services through partnerships with health care service providers including local universities that offer graduate training in mental health and social work. These programs provide in-kind services of graduate students (under supervision of a licensed clinician) to supplement professional counseling staff.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

What percentage of your board contributes financially to the organization?
100%

If Board giving is not at 100%, please explain why?
N/A

How are board members expected to participate in your organization?
Members of JFS Board of Directors participate overall by providing financial oversight, fundraising, personal financial contributions, and policy oversight. Each member is expected to read and understand the agency's financial statements, and some are invited to join the Finance Committee to further shape how funds are allocated and spent. As our main fundraisers, they are expected to be the ambassadors of the agency, raise funds through various sources, and be involved in the promotion of the agency including attending and volunteering at events. In addition, each member has their own fiduciary responsibility of giving $1,200 annually. With the expectation of knowing fully about the agency (e.g. purpose, programs, services, strengths, and needs), this positions each member to provide policy oversight and help shape and guide the direction the agency is moving.
